

$30 in Istanbul can buy you dinner, a night's lodging and a Turkish love potion.

Istanbul... it's like Venice with a few extras.

Turkish love potions might just be hearsay, but a trip to Istanbul is well worth trying one out.

Spanning two continents and 2700-years in the making, Istanbul fuses the romance and charm of Europe with the mystery and allure of Asia.

You'll quickly lose yourself within the beauty and timeless splendor that set Istanbul apart as a rare gem and vibrant, exotic city.

Your adventure begins when you cruise the Bosphorus strait, the natural divide between Istanbul's European and Asian halves. Next, visit Topkapi Palace—once home to the Ottoman emperors—its harem alone spans six levels and contains 300 rooms.

At journey's end, explore the Grand Bazaar, the largest covered market in the world, selling everything from leather goods, antiques, jewelry and—you guessed it—love potions too.
